Summer Safety

School is out and the kids are ready for some summer fun! Children love the hot summer months, because they provide the perfect opportunity to spend lots of time outside. Whether it's swimming in the pool, hiking through the woods, taking long walks, or going for a bike ride, there is something for everyone, no matter how young or old. We hope that everyone enjoys this special time of year, but we want to also remind parents that there are potential dangers during the summer months, and it's important to be aware of what they are. The more information one learns about how to prevent illnesses and injuries, the less likely they will occur. There are many areas to cover when it comes to summer safety, and we'll review just a few here:

Pedestrian Safety

- Teach children to walk, not run, across the street and always hold your child's hand.
- Children should cross only with an adult or an older, responsible child and never run out from between parked cars.
- Whenever crossing the street, try to make eye contact with any drivers nearby to be sure they see you.
- Use sidewalks whenever possible.

Water Safety

- Practice "touch supervision" (a term used by the American Academy of Pediatrics). This means that at all times, the supervising adult is within an arm's length of the child being watched, when near or in the water.
- Remember, no child or adult is "drown proof".

Sun Protection

- Avoid sun exposure during peak sun hours and wear protective clothing and a wide brimmed hat and sunglasses (11:00am-5:00pm).
- Sunscreen is a must and should be applied liberally 30 minutes before going out in the sun, and reapplied every two hours or sooner if swimming, sweating or toweling off.

Dehydration and Heat-Related Illnesses

- Keeping well hydrated is very important.
- Children (and adults) must remember to drink water. Playing in the hot summer sun means lots of fluid losses, so avoid strenuous activity during peak sun hours (11:00am-5:00pm). Look for shade and take lots of breaks.
- Seek medical attention immediately for any signs of heat-related illness.

Your FirstService management team strives to provide the best possible service. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at 713.332.4750, or you can visit our office at The Club at Riverstone, 18353 University Blvd., Sugar Land, TX 77479. We thank you in advance for your support!

Fitness Tip of the Month

Avoid Comparing Yourself To Others

Instead, compare yourself to you of last week. If you make every week better in some way than the preceding week, you're moving forward and making progress. Aim to improve yourself 5-10 percent versus last year's version of you. It's hard for any of us to feel good about ourselves when we try to measure up to physique athletes who may have been training for a decade or more. What these champions have in common with you is that they decided to improve their fitness one day, and then came back for a second, and kept going.
