HOA CORNER

WHAT THE ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW COMMITTEE DOES FOR YOU?

Are you getting ready to make an addition to your house, build a new shed, or fence in your backyard? Before you break out the tools, make sure to get your plans approved by our association's Architectural Review Committee.

While it may seem arbitrary from an individual homeowner's standpoint, the Architectural Review Committee looks out for the entire community. Aside from stopping residents from painting pink polka dots on their houses, the committee's job is to make sure that the size and style of the project, the type of building materials being used, and the overall look of the new structure adheres to the association's design requirements. Not only does this keep the community looking consistent, it also helps to keep property values up by preventing individual structures from standing out.

Of course, it's also important to note that unapproved structures might legally have to be removed at the owner's expense, so save yourself money and headaches by getting approval before building.

So, when you're ready to start your new project, or if the design of your project changes midway through building it, send your plans to the Architectural Review Committee first so that we can make sure they're in compliance with the association's design standards. If we do find any issues, we'll let you know what they are and try to help you come up with other options. We appreciate all the hard work residents have done to make their homes and this community beautiful—help us keep this association looking great by keeping us in the loop of all your building projects.

Reminder from the Compliance Department

Tree Topping

Many people think that you can shorten a tree by cutting off the top. What they don't realize is that topping permanently disfigures and damages the tree, and may even kill it. Once a tree is topped, it can be improved with the help of an arborist, but it can never be completely restored.

How does topping hurt trees? Topping damages trees by removing much of the leaf surface area needed to produce food and food storage reserves. It leaves large wounds that are slow to heal and become entry points for insects and disease organisms. Finally, it allows strong sunlight to enter the central parts of the tree, resulting in sunscald, cracks and peeling bark.

Tree topping is not the proper way to maintain trees and therefore is considered a violation of the Riverstone restrictions. Please note that you may be required to replace trees that have been topped.

Mariona Code Joins Our Finance Team

Ready, willing and knowledgeable, Mariona Code is here to help with questions about your account as our new Finance Assistant.

Mariona got right to work on Feb. 3 overseeing residential accounts, processing payments, updating records, managing invoices, processing closings and keeping track of HOA assessments and dues.

It's a big job, but her previous experience as the lead customer service representative for Medical Place should help her navigate the intricacies just fine. There, she perfected her communication and management skills. Also important is her upbeat spirit and the positive energy she brings to all aspects of her job.

"I have an urge to make those around me happy and to resolve problems in a way that will best suit the company and the residents," Mariona said. "I want to make sure that both the community and HOA are happy and that yearly goals are met."

When she isn't helping our residents, she spends time traveling and exploring the outdoors with her 5-year-old daughter Allayah.

"I'm very family-oriented and I love enjoying those around me," she said. "Shopping, of course, is an all-time favorite! I also enjoy watching home network and interior design shows."

In the short time she has been with us, she has already fallen in love with Riverstone.

"I enjoy the nice environment, the amazing staff and resident family," she said. "The HOA of Riverstone makes you feel like family. In only a short amount of time, I feel like this is home."

If you haven't met her already, take a moment to stop by the HOA office and introduce yourself to Mariona!

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

Riverstone Business Spotlight

Riverstone resident Kalika Sinha is passionate about three things: kids, technology and education. When an opportunity to own a business that combined all three presented itself, she jumped in with both feet, opening Code Ninjas Riverstone in 2018.

Code Ninjas is a Houston-based company that teaches children to program using a game-based curriculum in a fun, safe and inspiring learning environment. The center—called a “dojo”—is a vibrant place filled with cool equipment including laptops, robotics kits, 3D printers, drones, VR goggles and more that student “ninjas” use to develop the skills they need to be competitive in the 21st century.

“The curriculum focuses on teaching kids to code,” Sinha said. “The goal is to teach them 21st century skills such as communication, creativity, invention, teamwork, critical thinking, problem solving, media literacy, cyber safety and social-emotional learning.”

Sinha, a construction engineer, and her husband, who is an electrical engineer, always knew there was a need for something like this in the community.

“When our daughter was 10, long before Code Ninjas was founded, she asked for a coding class,” she said. “We looked everywhere for something that was fun, engaging and at the level a 10-year-old could process. We came up empty.”

In 2017, she learned about Code Ninjas. After doing some research, she and her husband decided it was exactly what today’s kids needed. They now own three centers. Code Ninjas Riverstone is one of the highest performing out of the 700 existing centers in the world.

“I go above and beyond other Code Ninjas because I am passionate about bringing this to the community,” Sinha said. “We hire the best of the best—college and high school students who have demonstrated proficiency and excellence in the field.”

These “Senseis” guide and mentor students as young as five through programs that teach them foundational technical programming skills. The Juniors program for children ages 5 to 7 is an icon-based curriculum that’s coding-concept based with many hands-on activities reinforcing the concepts of the month.

“It’s amazing to hear from a 5-year-old’s mouth what an algorithm is and what sequencing is, what loops are,” Sinha said. “It’s just incredible that at this age they are learning that.”

In the Create program, older children engage in project-based learning. The levels are defined by nine colored “belts”—from white to black. As they advance, they learn several programming languages as well as how the software/hardware interface works. The best part, Sinha says, is at the graduating black belt level, they create their own game or app they can monetize and launch on an app store.

“It’s their idea they take from concept to marketing,” she said. “This is the beauty of the program because then it is not only covering the hardware/software side of coding and all the technology but also the business side. Ultimately, what does all this learning lead to? It leads to a way of earning a living. We are showing them that pathway.”

Code Ninjas offers other enrichment programs such as camps, STEM Nights, concept workshops and birthday parties. Code Ninjas tech and STEM summer camps include learning opportunities using what kids already love such as Minecraft, Roblox, 3D printing, YouTube, animation and more.

This year, Code Ninjas is offering four weeks of summer camps at The Club at Riverstone so kids can experience Code Ninjas in a different way.

“This the first year we are partnering with the HOA,” said Sinha. “There are going to be many different topics, but the overarching theme is fun with coding and introduction to coding. It’s a way kids can experience a small bite of the Code Ninjas experience.”

Sinha said she wants parents to know that it is never too early to teach children coding.

“Clearly, our world is moving toward being run by tools and processes because of computer programmers,” Sinha said. “They are our superheroes in today’s world. Doesn’t it make sense to give this superpower to our kids as soon as possible? So, they can hone this skill and make their own futures brighter while also creating new and improved methods to run everything in the world?”

Riverstone parents can learn more about and register for the HOA camps at bit.ly/CNRRiverstonePrograms or by using the QR code on this page. Parents can learn more about the summer camps at the center at bit.ly/CodeNinjasSummerCamps2022. Code Ninjas Riverstone is located at 18318 University Boulevard.

IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Fort Bend County Nonprofit Spotlight

Everyone deserves a home but not everyone has the means to afford one. In Fort Bend County, there are approximately 6,500 kids who don't have a bed to call their own. Many are the children of single mothers who—through no fault of their own—can't make ends meet. For these mothers, Abigail's Place offers a ray of hope.

"Abigail's Place is on mission to empower displaced single mothers and their children by providing transitional housing, resources and advocacy," said Aaron Groff, Executive Director for Abigail's Place. "We've helped over 400 families since our inception and housed in our housing units 49 families."

Abigail's Place is the brainchild of Shereen Sampson. She became aware of a single mom working at a local coffee shop who was living out of her car with her son. Shereen wanted to help and began to look for ways to provide affordable housing for single moms and their families in Fort Bend County. Abigail's Place was born in 2016.

During that first year the nonprofit aided many families in the community by assisting with housing payments, furnishing apartments, providing food and clothing and helping to restore homes damaged by a devastating flood in May of 2016.

In 2017, a generous financial gift allowed Abigail's Place to open the doors of their first emergency shelter. The shelter provided a safe haven for five families, all of whom were eventually able to secure permanent housing.

Today, seven years after Abigail's Place was founded, the organization operates three housing units allowing them to serve up to 12 families each year. A fourth unit is in the works.

"We are set to break ground on two more duplexes in partnership with HomeAid Houston and Chesmar Homes this spring," Goff said. "This project is in cooperation with Attack Poverty who provides some additional wrap-around services for families. We are in the final planning stages with the city and should start moving dirt this quarter."

Units are fully furnished, and each has its own laundry facility, as well as a private, fenced backyard. The average stay is three to four months.

"The goal is sustainability," Goff said. "We work with each mom to ensure they have the necessary resources to provide for their family and keep a roof over their head. This often involves increasing their earning potential or connecting them to other resources that provide additional services such as childcare."

More than 100 families reach out to Abigail's Place each year for assistance.

"The reasons vary for each family but at the end of the day, the majority of moms are either underemployed or unemployed," Goff said. "Fort Bend County as a whole lacks affordable housing, and these moms lack the support system and access to needed resources to thrive on their own. When we come alongside and offer support, advocacy and resources, it amazes me how quickly they succeed."

Last year, the non-profit received 107 applications. Of those, they provided resources, advocacy and some sort of assistance to 62 families. Abigail's Place housed 10 families totaling 43 individuals in their transitional houses. Additionally, they continued to support dozens of previous housing clients with resources such as food, clothing, furniture and Christmas for kids.

Abigail's Place depends on the support of the community and capital to purchase or build new homes. It costs approximately $500 per month to house one family in a unit. Donations are always needed and appreciated. Abigail's Place also uses volunteers to collect donations, prepare and maintain the units for new clients. You can learn more and make donations at www.abigailsplace.org.

Tennis Court Etiquette

- Talk quietly when standing near tennis courts that are in use so as not to disrupt players on adjacent courts.
- Never walk behind a court when a point is still in play. Wait until the point is over and then cross as fast as possible to get to your own court.
- When sending balls back to a neighboring court, roll them on to the back of the court.
- Never send them back while play is in progress. Also, if one of your balls rolls into an adjacent court, don't run after it, just wait for your neighboring court to return the ball when it's convenient.
- When reserving courts please be considerate to other residents by cancelling your reservation when you know that you will not be using it.

BLAST FROM THE PAST

We Like Big Trucks and We Cannot Lie

It was a little wet and a little chilly but that didn't stop Riverstone residents from rolling out for our annual Touch-A-Truck event. A fire truck, police vehicles, garbage truck, 18-wheeler and even a tractor parked outside The Club at Riverstone so kids could ask questions, explore, learn and honk the horns! We also had face painters, crafts, bounce houses and a trackless train. Special shoutout to Rob's Mini Donuts for serving up sweet treats to hungry truck lovers.
