HOA CORNER

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO RIVERSTONE HOA MEMBERS

As we approach the Board of Directors election, please ensure we have your updated contact information, especially your email address, by submitting any changes to customercare@riverstone.com.

com before the October 2nd election submission deadline. Voting will be entirely electronic this year, so a current email address is crucial for receiving your ballot. Thank you for your attention!

RIVERSTONE HOA BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTION

Dear Riverstone Homeowners,

We would like to remind you of some important details regarding the 2027 Board of Directors election.

Electronic voting will begin on Friday, October 16. Election notices and voting credentials will be distributed to eligible homeowners on the same day. The notice will include the information needed to access the online voting portal and cast your ballot.

Cast your vote! Voting will remain open until Monday, November 16, at 5pm. Election results will be announced on Tuesday, December 8, at the Annual Meeting.

This election is a vital part of our community governance process, allowing Riverstone homeowners to choose their representatives. We appreciate all candidates who step forward and express their willingness to serve.

The primary role of the Board, assisted by our staff, is to oversee the business of the Association and plan for the future. This includes approving annual budgets, developing policies, adopting resolutions, awarding service contracts, approving capital expenditures, hearing homeowners' appeals regarding deed restriction violations, making decisions on collection and legal matters, and guiding our staff. Board members serve as volunteers and are entrusted with making significant decisions that impact the greater good of the community.

Election Details:

The upcoming election will determine two Board members, each serving a three-year term beginning in January 2027. A quorum of 10% of eligible members is required. Once this quorum is reached, the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes will serve three-year terms.

A third-party company will manage the voting process and tabulate the results to ensure a fair and transparent election. Neither the HOA Board nor management will be involved in verifying or counting the votes.

We encourage residents to review the bios of the Board of Directors election candidates to familiarize themselves with those running. This is your opportunity to participate in Riverstone's Board election process, and we encourage all homeowners to cast their vote by 5pm. on Monday, November 16.

Need Help Voting?

A dedicated help desk will be available throughout the voting period to assist residents with voting-related questions or issues. Please contact Election Trust at help@electiontrust.com for assistance.

Key Dates for the Election:

October 2—Candidate Filing Deadline

October 16—Election Notice & Voting Credentials Distributed

October 16—Electronic Voting Begins

November 16 at 5pm—Voting Ends

December 8—Election Results Announced at the Annual Meeting

Annual Assessments Hit Mailboxes Next Month

With the end of the year fast approaching, we want to send out a reminder to be on the lookout for the 2027 Annual Assessment information that will be mailed to all Riverstone property owners next month.

If you have any changes to your mailing address, please contact us no later than Monday, November 2nd, or log on to your resident portal to update your account.

Assessments are levied annually to enable the HOA to pay Association Expenses; including maintaining and improving common areas, as well as other general purposes that promote the common benefit for Riverstone residents. More information, including payment options, will be included in the assessment mailing.

All Annual Assessments are due on January 1, 2027.

For questions about the 2027 Annual Assessment or mailing address changes, please contact Mariona at Finance@riverstone.com or 281.778.2995. We're here to help!

UNDERSTANDING RIVERSTONE'S RESERVES

How Long-Term Planning Connects Community Assets, Reserve Funding, and Annual Assessments

What Is a Reserve Study?

When homeowners think about Riverstone's annual budget, it is natural to think about the services they see every day—landscaping, utilities, maintenance, recreation, staffing, security services, and common-area upkeep. But managing a community like Riverstone also means looking years, and sometimes decades, ahead.

Association-owned assets such as pavement, fencing, recreational facilities, equipment, and other infrastructure eventually require significant repair or replacement. A reserve study helps the Association identify those major components, estimate their remaining useful life and future costs, and develop a funding plan for anticipated expenses. In simple terms, it helps answer what Riverstone is responsible for, when major work may be needed, and how to prepare financially for it.

Operating Funds vs. Reserve Funds

Operating funds support Riverstone's day-to-day expenses, while reserve funds help prepare for larger, less frequent repair and replacement needs. Routine maintenance may be handled through the operating budget, while a major future repair or replacement may be planned through reserves. Both are part of the Association's overall financial planning, but they serve different purposes.

What Does 30% Funded Mean?

Riverstone's current reserve study identifies the Association as approximately 30% funded. "Percent funded" compares the current reserve balance with a calculated fully funded balance based on the components and anticipated future needs included in the study.

Common reserve-industry benchmarks generally describe 0–30% funded as weak, 30–70% as fair, and 70% or more as strong. At approximately 30%, Riverstone is near the transition between the weak and fair ranges. These benchmarks help provide context, but CAI notes that percent funded measures reserve-fund size and is not, by itself, a measure of funding adequacy. It should be considered alongside the timing and cost of future projects, expected reserve contributions, and the Association's overall funding plan.

How Does This Affect My Annual Assessment?

The reserve study does not set Riverstone's annual assessment by itself. Instead, it gives the Board important information when developing the annual budget. Each year, the Board must balance the cost of operating and maintaining Riverstone today with the responsibility to prepare for major expenses that may occur years from now.

Reserve planning allows the Association to prepare gradually for future repair and replacement costs rather than waiting until an asset reaches the end of its useful life and determining how to pay for the entire project at once. Spreading that planning across multiple budget years can help distribute the financial responsibility among the homeowners who benefit from those assets over time.

If projected future costs grow faster than reserve funding, the Board may eventually need to evaluate reserve contributions, project timing or scope, or other available funding options. A 30% funding level does not automatically mean an assessment increase; it is one factor used to understand Riverstone's long-term financial needs.

Planning Today for Tomorrow

A reserve study is a roadmap, not a guarantee. Assets may last longer than projected or need attention sooner, and project costs can change because of inflation, market conditions, weather, usage, or unforeseen damage. That is why reserve planning is an ongoing process.

The reserve study gives the Board and Management a long-term view of Riverstone's responsibilities so they can make informed decisions about future projects and funding. When homeowners receive annual assessment information, the budget behind it represents more than the next 12 months—it also reflects the responsibility of maintaining Riverstone today while preparing for tomorrow.

BUILDING A STRONGER CORE

When we talk about “core” in the context of exercise, you may think I’m talking specifically about your abs (or abdominal muscles). Your core muscles work to help stabilize your trunk and spine, improve your balance, and make everyday movements like bending and lifting objects possible. Whether you’re lifting weights, playing a sport, or even carrying the groceries inside, a strong core can help you move with great confidence and control. Building core strength doesn’t require hundreds of crunches or countless hours in the gym. A few simple movements done once or twice a week can make all of the difference! Here is an exercise routine that covers all of your core’s functions and can be done from the comfort of your home.

At Home Core Routine:

- Dead Bugs—(8–10 reps per side)
- Bird Dogs—(8–10 reps per side)
- Forearm (Low) Plank—(30 second hold)
- Glute Bridges—(12–15 reps)
- Side Plank (15–20 second hold on each side)

Repeat 2–3 times and rest as needed

Tennis & Pickleball Court Etiquette

- Talk quietly when standing near tennis or pickleball courts that are in use so as not to disrupt players on adjacent courts.
- Never walk behind a court when a point is still in play. Wait until the point is over and then cross as fast as possible to get to your own court.
- When sending balls back to a neighboring court, roll them on to the back of the court.
- Never send them back while play is in progress. Also, if one of your balls rolls into an adjacent court, don't run after it, just wait for your neighboring court to return the ball when it's convenient.
- When reserving courts please be considerate to other residents by cancelling your reservation when you know that you will not be using it.
